This Sunday's Scripture: Ezekiel 33:7-9; Psalm 95; Romans 13:8-10 : and Matthew `8:15-20. Click here - <https://bible.usccb.org/bible/readings/090620.cfm>

Psalm 95 is commonly used as the “invitatory” or first psalm of the day. Imagine beginning each day with these words, “O Lord open my lips and my mouth shall declare your praise” followed by Psalm 95 with its reminder of whose and who we are. We are a beloved people shepherded by a mighty God. You are invited to make the psalms part of your daily prayer experience. Join in praying the Liturgy of the Hours from your home or join us at the Cathedral at 8:30am and 5:30pm most weekdays. (No Liturgy of the Hours on Labor Day, Sept. 7)

Questions of the Week.

Jesus tells us about the importance of community and friendship. When have you helped heal an argument between friends? How did that feel?

How do you make sure you follow the way of love as described by Paul in today's reading? What steps do you take to eliminate the unloving — grudges, hatred, prejudice, or

Fr. Foley, SJ has a great reflection on friendship & Forgiveness. It can be found on the St. Louis Center for Liturgy website. The following link will take you there. https://liturgy.slu.edu/23OrdA090620/reflections_foley

Labor Day Thoughts.

This Labor Day feels like a good time to spend a few moments reflecting on the value of work, the complementarity of our talents and abilities, and our mutual interdependence. Consider the gift of labor offered with our hands- in homes and workplaces. Take some time to consider all the ‘workers’ who make even the most ordinary of our daily activities possible. After praising and thanking God for these people, lift up a prayer of intercession for their welfare and that of the members of their families. Pray for those who seek meaningful employment and a living wage. Take a few minutes to consider Church teaching on the dignity of work and the rights of the worker. The following four minute video is a part of a 7 part series on Catholic Social teaching, CST 101. It is a joint effort of the United State Conference of Catholic Bishops & Catholic Relief Services. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G2G8jGOva7Y>
